T3 Application for Trust Account Number

Important – To process your application, we need a copy of the trust document or the last will and testament. If we do not receive either of these, we will not process the form. This form will be used to create a trust account number for each trust type to file the corresponding return.

To receive your trust account number instantly, you may also register for a trust account number online using the trust account registration feature through one of CRA's secure portals:

- Represent a Client at canada.ca/taxes-representatives
- My Account at canada.ca/my-cra-account
- My Business Account at canada.ca/my-cra-business-account

Visit canada.ca/cra-login-services for more information on our secure portals.

Instructions and Information

Applying for a trust account number

A trustee can apply for a trust account number in order to file the corresponding return. A trustee is an individual or a trust institution that holds legal title to property in trust for the benefit of the beneficiaries. A trustee includes an executor, administrator, or liquidator who owns or controls property for some other person.

Note
This does not apply to a non-resident trust electing to file an income tax return under section 216 of the Income Tax Act.

What documents you need to send

You must send a completed and signed Form T3APP, T3 Application for Trust Account Number, and a copy of the trust document or the last will and testament to the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA).

Note
Do not attach Form T3APP to any of your trust returns.

Receiving and using the trust account number

Once the CRA has processed this form, a trust account number will be mailed to the trust. Include the number on all correspondence for the trust.
