Line 31800 – Disability amount transferred from a dependant

You may be able to claim all or part of your dependant's (other than your spouse's or common-law partner's) disability amount from line 31600 of their return if all of the following apply:

- A medical practitioner certified, using Form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate, that your dependant had a severe and prolonged impairment in physical or mental functions during 2021
- The CRA approved Form T2201 for your dependant
- Your dependant was resident in Canada at any time in 2021
- Your dependant was dependent on you for support on a regular and consistent basis for all or some of the basic necessities of life such as food, shelter, and clothing
- One of the following applies:
  - You claimed an amount on line 30400 of your return for that dependant, or you could have if you did not have a spouse or common law partner and if the dependant did not have any income (see line 30400 of Schedule 5 for conditions)
  - The dependant was your (or your spouse's or common law partner's) parent, grandparent, child, grandchild, brother, sister, aunt, uncle, niece, or nephew and you claimed an amount on line 30450 of your return for that dependant, or you could have if they had no income and had been 18 years of age or older in 2021

If your dependant was eligible for the disability tax credit for 2020 and still meets the requirements in 2021, you do not need to send the CRA a new Form T2201 to claim this amount. However, you must send the CRA a new form T2201 if the previous period of approval ended before 2021 or if the CRA asks you to.

Notes: You cannot claim the unused part of the disability amount if the spouse or common-law partner of the person with a disability is already claiming the disability amount or any other non-refundable tax credit (other than medical expenses) for the person with a disability.

If you are splitting the unused part of this amount with another person, the total amount claimed for that dependant cannot be more than the maximum amount allowed for that dependant.

If you or someone else paid for an attendant or for care in an establishment for that dependant, special rules may apply. For more information, see Guide RC4065, Medical Expenses.

For more information about amounts you may be able to claim, see Guide RC4064, Disability-Related Information, or go to canada.ca/disability-credits-deductions.

Line 41000 – Federal political contribution tax credit

You can claim a credit for the amount of contributions that you or your spouse or common-law partner made in the year to a registered federal political party, a registered association, or a candidate in a federal election.

If you received, or expect to receive, any advantage for making a contribution, the eligible amount you can claim is the amount of the fair market value of your contribution that is more than any advantage. An advantage generally includes the value of certain property, service, compensation, use, or any other benefit.

If your total federal political contributions from line 40900 of your return were $1,275 or more, enter $650 on line 41000 of your return. If not, use the amount from line 40900 of your return to decide which column to complete.

Line 45200 – Refundable medical expense supplement

You may be able to claim this supplement if all of the following apply:

- You entered an amount on line 21500 or line 33200 of your return
- You were resident in Canada throughout 2021
- You were 18 years of age or older at the end of 2021
- Your adjusted family net income is less than $54,146

In addition, the total of the following two amounts must be $3,751 or more:

- your employment income from lines 10100 and 10400 of your return (other than amounts received from a wage-loss replacement plan) minus the amounts from lines 20700, 21200, 22900, and 23100 of your return (if the result is negative, consider it as "0")
- your net self-employment income (not including losses) from lines 13500, 13700, 13900, 14100, and 14300 of your return

Note: If you reported income from more than one business on one specific self-employment line (13500, 13700, 13900, 14100, or 14300) and you are reporting a profit from one business and a loss from another, use only the profit amounts to determine if you meet the income requirement (noted above) to be eligible for this credit. If you are reporting a loss from only one business on one of these lines, do not include that loss.

You can claim this supplement for the same medical expenses you claimed on lines 21500 and 33200 of your return.

If you were separated because of a breakdown in your relationship for a period of 90 days or more that included December 31, 2021, you do not have to include your spouse's or common-law partner's income when you calculate this supplement.
