General information

GST/HST credit

The GST/HST credit is a non-taxable amount paid four times a year to individuals and families with low and modest incomes to help offset the goods and services tax/harmonized sales tax (GST/HST) that they pay.

Eligibility criteria for the GST/HST credit

You are eligible for the GST/HST credit if you are a resident of Canada for income tax purposes in the month before and at the beginning of the month in which we make a payment, and at least one of the following applies:

- you are 19 years of age or older
- you have (or had) a spouse or common-law partner
- you are (or were) a parent and live (or lived) with your child

If you are turning 19 before April in the year after you became a resident of Canada, you can apply for the GST/HST credit now. Generally, you have to be 19 years of age or older to get the GST/HST credit, but you can be younger than 19 to apply.

Who is considered a resident of Canada

You are considered to be a resident of Canada when you establish sufficient residential ties in Canada. Residential ties include:

- a home in Canada
- a spouse or common-law partner who lives in Canada
- dependants who live in Canada

If you got a letter from us about your residency status, include a copy of it with this application.

If you are not sure if you are a resident of Canada, send Form NR74, Determination of Residency Status (Entering Canada), and include it with this application. We will give you our opinion about your residency status.

You need a social insurance number

You and your spouse or common-law partner (if you have one) need a social insurance number (SIN) to apply. However, if Service Canada will not give you a SIN, you can still apply by filling out this form and attaching a letter explaining why you cannot get a SIN. You must also attach a clear photocopy of any of the following documents:

- passport
- driver's licence
- visitor record
- birth certificate or proof of birth
- any document issued by Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada
- any document that proves your or your spouse's or common-law partner's identity

If you have a spouse or common-law partner

You can get the GST/HST credit for your spouse or common-law partner. Generally, they have to be a resident of Canada for income tax purposes in the month before and at the beginning of the month in which we make a payment. Fill out the section "Information about your spouse or common-law partner" on the first page of the application form.

If you have a spouse or common-law partner, only one of you can get the GST/HST credit for both of you. No matter which one of you applies, the amount will be the same.

Definitions

Divorced – you were married and are now legally divorced.

Living common-law – you are living in a conjugal relationship with someone to whom you are not married and to whom at least one of the following situations applies. They:

- have been living with you for at least 12 consecutive months. This includes any period you were separated for less than 90 days because of a breakdown in the relationship
- are the parent of your child by birth or adoption
- have custody and control of your child (or had custody and control immediately before the child turned 19 years of age) and your child is wholly dependent on that person for support

Married – you are legally married to someone.

Separated – you have been living apart from your spouse or common-law partner because of a breakdown in the relationship for a period of at least 90 days and you have not reconciled.

Once you have been separated for 90 days because of a breakdown in the relationship, the effective day of your separation is the date you started living apart.

You would still be considered to have a spouse or common-law partner if there is no breakdown in the relationship and you were living apart for reasons such as:

- work
- studies
- health problems

Note

Generally, you are not considered separated if your spouse or common-law partner is incarcerated or does not live in Canada, as long as there is no breakdown in your relationship. However, you may not get the GST/HST credit for your spouse or common-law partner if the eligibility criteria are not met.

Single – you are single and no other marital status applies to you.

Spouse – the person to whom you are legally married.

Widowed – your spouse or common-law partner is deceased.

How we calculate the GST/HST credit

We base your GST/HST credit on your and your spouse's or common-law partner's income from all sources, both inside and outside Canada (if they are a resident of Canada), and on the number of children you have registered.

If you became a resident of Canada:

- between January 1 and May 31, you must fill in A, B, and C of Step 4
- between June 1 and December 31, you must fill in A and B of Step 4

We will send you a GST/HST credit notice telling you how much you will get and how we calculated the amount. GST/HST credit payments are normally issued in July, October, January, and April.

To get an estimate of your GST/HST credit, go to canada.ca/child-family-benefits-calculator.

Related provincial and territorial programs

The Canada Revenue Agency administers the following provincial and territorial programs that are related to the GST/HST credit:

- BC climate action tax credit
- New Brunswick harmonized sales tax credit
- Newfoundland and Labrador income supplement
- Newfoundland and Labrador seniors' benefit
- Northwest Territories cost of living offset
- Nova Scotia affordable living tax credit
- Ontario sales tax credit
- Prince Edward Island sales tax credit
- Saskatchewan low-income tax credit
- Yukon government carbon price rebate – individuals

You don't need to apply to a province or territory to get payments for these programs. If you are eligible and have applied for the GST/HST credit, your provincial or territorial credit payments will be combined with your GST/HST credit payments (except for the Ontario sales tax credit, as part of the Ontario trillium benefit, which is issued separately).

Climate action incentive payment

The climate action incentive payment (CAIP) is a tax-free amount paid to help individuals and families offset the cost of the federal pollution pricing. The CAIP is available to residents of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and Ontario. The CAIP consists of a basic amount and a 10% supplement for residents of small and rural communities.

Eligibility criteria for the CAIP

To be eligible for the CAIP, you must be a resident of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, or Ontario on the first day of the payment month and the last day of the previous month. You must also meet at least one of the following conditions during the same period:

- You are 19 years of age or older.
- You have (or previously had) a spouse or common-law partner.
- You are (or previously were) a parent and live (or previously lived) with your child.

Generally, you are not eligible for the CAIP if, at the beginning of the month in which we make a quarterly payment, any of the following apply:

- You are not a resident of Canada for income tax purposes.
- You are confined to a prison or similar institution for a period of 90 consecutive days or more.

Notes

You cannot get the CAIP for a spouse, common-law partner, or child who meets any of the above conditions at the beginning of the month in which we make a quarterly payment.

An individual is not eligible to receive the CAIP for a deceased person.

When you send this form, the Canada Revenue Agency will determine your eligibility and send you payments if you're entitled to them. If you have a spouse or common-law partner, only one of you can get the payment for the family. No matter which one of you applies, the amount will be the same. The payments for the CAIP will be issued separately from the GST/HST credit payments.

To claim the rural supplement, you must reside outside of a census metropolitan area (CMA). If you live in a rural area, complete Schedule 14, Climate Action Incentive, and include it with this form.
