

Connected Person Information Return

An employer has to file this return when, at any time after 1989, an individual is or was connected with the employer and, after 1990, that individual either:

- becomes a member of a registered pension plan (RPP) in which the employer participates on behalf of the individual
- begins to accrue lifetime retirement benefits (LRBs) under a defined benefit provision of an RPP in which the employer participates on behalf of the individual following a period during which the individual did not accrue such benefits

Connected person is defined in subsection 8500(3) of the Income Tax Regulations and includes a person who meets one or more of the following conditions. The person:

- owns, directly or indirectly, at least 10% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the employer, or of any other corporation that is related to the employer
- does not deal at arm's length with the employer
- is a specified shareholder of the employer under paragraph (d) of the definition of "specified shareholder" in subsection 248(1) of the Income Tax Act

Instructions

Employer instructions – Fill out this return and send it to us no later than 60 days after the individual becomes a member of an RPP or (re)commences to accrue LRBs under a defined benefit provision of an RPP. If the employer has filed a T1007 return for an employee, a second T1007 return is not required even if that employee recommences to accrue LRBs under a defined benefit provision of an RPP. Keep one copy for your records, and give one copy to the employee.

We may assess a penalty if you file your information return late. Each slip is an information return. The penalty assessed is based on the number of information returns you filed late. The failure to comply penalty charged under Subsection 162(7) of the Income Tax Act, is the greater of $100, or $25 per day for up to a maximum of 100 days.
