

Deduction for Excess Registered Pension Plan Transfers You Withdrew from an RRSP, PRPP, SPP or RRIF

Use this form to calculate a deduction when excess amounts were transferred from a registered pension plan (RPP) to your registered retirement savings plan (RRSP), your pooled registered pension plan (PRPP), your specified pension plan (SPP) or your registered retirement income fund (RRIF), in the year or a previous year and you subsequently withdraw the amounts. Attach the completed form to your income tax and benefit return.

To claim the deduction, you have to meet both of the following conditions:

- you included the excess amount that was transferred to your RRSP, PRPP, SPP or RRIF in your income for the year it was transferred
- you are including amounts received from your RRSPs, PRPPs, SPP or RRIFs in your income for the year you are claiming this deduction. (Certain amounts you could deduct from your income do not qualify. These include amounts you could deduct as transfers after the maturity of an RRSP, as excess amounts from a RRIF that were transferred to an annuity, or as unused contributions that you withdrew from the RRSP)

You can only deduct the excess amount that was transferred if you did not deduct it as an RRSP, PRPP or SPP contribution for any previous year.

When you complete your income tax and benefit return, do not enter the amount of this deduction on Schedule 7, RRSP and PRPP Unused Contributions, Transfers, and HBP or LLP Activities. If, in a previous year, you included the excess transfer on Schedule 7 as an RRSP or PRPP contribution, ask for an adjustment to your income tax return for that year. The adjustment will reduce your unused RRSP contributions available to carry forward to a future year.

We consider the excess amounts that were transferred from your RPP to your RRSP, PRPP, SPP or RRIF to be contributions to an RRSP, PRPP or SPP. You may have to pay tax on contributions that you could not deduct. To pay the tax, send us Form T1-OVP, 2019 Individual Tax Return for RRSP, PRPP and SPP Excess Contributions. For more information, see "Unused RRSP, PRPP, or SPP contributions" in Chapter 2 of Guide T4040, RRSPs and Other Registered Plans for Retirement.
