

Election by a Credit Union to Allocate Taxable Dividends and Net Non-taxable Capital Gains to Member Credit Unions

- For use by a credit union to elect, under subsection 137(5.1) of the Income Tax Act, to allocate to member credit unions the part of the following amounts that can reasonably be attributed to them:
  - the total of taxable dividends received from taxable Canadian corporations in the year;
  - the excess of the total of the non-taxable parts of capital gains from dispositions of property in the year over the total of the non-allowable parts of capital losses from dispositions of property in the year (the net non-taxable capital gains);
  - the amounts allocated for the year to the credit union under subsection 137(5.1) from another credit union that it is a member of.
- Mail one complete copy of the election, separately from any tax return, to your tax centre. Find your tax centre's address at canada.ca/tax-centres. This election is valid if it is filed within 120 days after the credit union's tax year-end.
